Value Education Programme (Classes VIII C and VIII D)

Section: Middle Section

Name of the Place: Fourth Floor Assembly hall

Date of the Event: 17th September 2025

Occasion: Class Assembly

What did you learn?

We learned that Earth's mysteries — like the Boiling River, Bermuda Triangle, and Colony Collapse Disorder — are not just fascinating phenomena but carry deep environmental messages that highlight the importance of awareness, responsibility, and sustainable action.

Key takeaways:

- Nature's wonders are fragile and need protection.
- Legends and mysteries often have scientific explanations.
- Even small actions, like planting trees or avoiding plastic, create meaningful impact.
- Students can be powerful messengers of change through creative expression.

How is it relevant to your school context?

It aligns with our school's value education focus by blending knowledge, creativity, and responsibility. The programme encouraged students to think critically, perform confidently, and connect their Classroom learning with real-world concerns.

How will you apply it with students in the classroom/beyond?

I will integrate more environmental themes into discussions and projects, encourage role-play and creative expression as teaching strategies, and motivate students to initiate eco-friendly practices both in school and at home.

What could have been better?

- Availability of the main venue, we require 4 days of the training students for entry and exit and getting used to the place.
- Better sound system arrangements for future programmes.

What was done well?

- The students' confidence and creativity stood out.

- The flow of events was smooth and well-connected.
- Collaboration between classes was effective.
- Messages were delivered in a way that was both informative and engaging.

Do you have any suggestions?

Availability of the main venue, we require 4 days of the training students for entry and exit and getting used to the place.
